

Brussels Attacks:
A Real Jihadist threat across Europe

ARCHumankind expresses its deepest shock for the horrific deaths of the victims of what is believed to be a series of terror attacks launched in Brussels today 22nd March, 2016 at Brussels Airport and Brussels public underground system.

ARCHumankind strongly condemns these acts of heinous violence and calls for urgent expert research to truly combat extremist violence and radicalization. What price must Europe pay in lives before addressing the real threat faced by rising Jihadist terrorists, networks and rising number of attacks.

ARCHumankind is the lead partner as part of a research consortium called PRISM (Preventing Radicalisation from Imperilling Security and Mankind). PRISM bridges together leading experts from across the academic and political spectrum from different regions of Europe. PRISM seeks to understand the causes, processes and consequences of violent radicalization including Jihadist violence.

This specific research has never been more relevant and ARCHumankind, in the scope of PRISM, remain available to offer their expertise and share their knowledge to determine effective ways forward after this truly horrendous attack.

**ARCHumankind is a non-profit organisation, aiming to bring together people from the most diverse geographical, professional, and cultural backgrounds to contribute to stimulating sustainable cooperation for the promotion of democracy and a respect for human rights, while putting an end to religiously, politically or ethnically motivated oppression and violence.*